Gregg Looney started running with Valpak back in September 2018 to help keep his business' name in the marketplace, to reach new homeowners and new customers. We asked Gregg how Valpak has been working for him and his business and he responded by stating "We just did a job for over $5,000 from one coupon. We always get phone calls off our Valpak promotions and it always pays for itself." We then asked Gregg how other forms of advertising has worked for him and he went on to say "We have tried Community Values, but we get much more traction from Valpak. We love direct mail as it is a powerful tool for advertising, and I love how Valpak has been around for so long. In our line of business, you only need one or two customers to make your ROI and Valpak always delivers those!"
