Matt Chabot advertises his services to build up his profile and awareness within his primary market. Matt is also looking to promote his new specials and to bring in new clients while keeping his regular clients. Matt does other forms of advertising but since partnering with Valpak, he agrees that we outperform them all, stating "I signed up for 4 months and renewed for another 4 months. I went from 19 calls in the first month to 38 calls the next. Valpak pays for itself and I reached prospects that were not reached with other forms of local advertising." Matt would highly recommend Valpak to any business owner, and he is very happy with his Valpak direct mail and digital programs.
